thousand digging for these eggs; they suc-

incredible numbers with water and fire, but all their efforts had very little effect.

About the middle of May small black creatures, at a distance resembling large ants, were observed accumulating in large heaps throughout the country, and a few days after they had been thus agen they began to lenp, and manifested the coming calamity and invasion of the fearful army. People now began to sweep them togethe and bury or burn them in ditches dng for the purpose. But all to little or no effect. The roads were covered with them, all marching in regular lines, like armies of soldiers, with their leaders in front, and all the opposition of man to arrest their progress was in vain. They first consumed the plantations around Ramleb, Lydda and all the smaller villages near them, and then entering the towns and villages consumed the victuals, &c., in the market and streets, by degrees forcing themselves into the houses and covering the walls outside as well as inside It seems that everything which is moistened by their saliva is poisoned, for the cattle that feed on the remants which are left all die. I, myself, saw fifty oxen dead in the villages of Delta, Daggon and Z farish that had fed on the remnant of durab (Indian corn) left by the loenste, they were seen to a fearful extent all round Jaffra, but still without wings. The town for several days appeared forsaken, all shops were shot, all business suspended .-Almost all the inhabitants had gone out to destroy and drive away the invading army; they made tremendous ditches, and buried and burned countless myriads, but, as before, all in vain, for the more they destroyed the more seemed to arise from hiding places and as they grew in size so they seemed to grow in multitude, and toward the east from here they covered the ground for miles and miles to a height of several inches As their wings are still too small to enable them to fly and visit the several hundred gardens within the cultivated part of the district of Jeffs, they have hiterto confined their destructions to the outer gar dens, of which about fifty have been com pletely laid waste, every green leaf, vege table, tree, and even the bark of young trees, devoured, and these beautiful gardens look like a birch tree garden in win

Our garden was one of the first attacked. For several days we saw the destructive host advancing; all our farm servants, as Word of God when we have these evidences before our eyes? True, our men broke their ranks for a moment, but no sooner bad they passed the men, they closed again, and marched forward through hedges and ditches, as if united by some mysterious power, causing them to open before man and to close again as soon as they had passed him. On the 14th instant they forced their way into the garden, defying all human efforts to prevent them, and in less than a day the whole garden to the extent of eight acres was covered with them, and the trees, to the number of three thousand, as well as every other green leaf, with the exception of the palm treeand the prickly pear bedges, were stripped.

Whether eating or drinking, reading or writing, or lying awake in bed (for it is impossible to sleep) one hears their noise from without. Like the noise of armed hosts or of the running of many waters. and within they keep dropping in and around you. At meals I am kept busy driving them away while I drive half a dozen away from the bread, as many will jump into the sugar basin, or into my tea cup, &c., and when undressing they will jump out of our very clothes without our having knows that they were there.

News has just reached us from Nabious the clive trees in those mountains have all been stripped, and near the river Oudge the soil is so thickly covered with these creatures that many of the animals led there to drink refuse and pass on.

Oppose drinking ! Yes, I do ; for when whiskey gets into the stomach, I really think grace gets out of the heart. Some how or other I have got the idea that grace don't love the smell of whiskey, and gives it a wide berth. This I do know, that whiskey don't help a man in religion. ] haven't much use for the religion of the dram-drinker; it is like eoin blades at aoon during a drought in summer.

well as several laborers, were employed to keep them off, to drive them away, or bury them, but we found them as Joel describes them, chap, ii., verse 7. They shall not break their ranks. Who can doubt the Word of God when we have these had oeen my stator wrammy physician, and had attended him in his last lillness, was called to see me. He thought my case entirely beyond the reach of medicine, and decided that I must die, and gave me one week to arrange my temporal affairs. In this apparently hopeless condition, I heard of the remedies which now I make and sell. It seems to me that I could feel them working their way, and penetrating every

My lungs and liver put on a new act ion, and the morbio matter which for years had accumulated and irritated the different organs of the body, was eliminated, the tubercles on my lungs as much as pint of yellow affensive matter every morning. As this expectoration of matter subsided, the fever abated, the pane left me the cough ceased to harass me, and the exhausting night-sweats were no longer known, and I had refreshing alsep, to which I had long been a stranger. My appetite new began to return, and at times I found it difficult to restrain myself from eating too much with this return of health, I gained in strength, and now am fleshy. I am now a healthy mas, with a large heated cleaters in the middle lobe of the right lung and the lower lobe hepatized with complete adhesion of the pleura. The left lung is sound, and the upper lobe of the right one is in a tolerably healthy condition.

Consumption at that time was thought to be ind disease, by every one, physicians as well as those who unlearned in medicine—especially such cases as were at to the condition I was in. This induced many per ed to the condition I was in. This induced many people believe my recovery only temporary. I now prepared gave the medicines to concumptives for some time, and m many wonderful curer; and the domand increased or rep that I determined to offer them to the public, and dev my undivided attentions. my undivided attention to lung diseases. In truth, I next to forced to it, for people would send for me far near, to ascertain whether their cases were like mine. CHARL LINGS

For many years, in conjunction with my principal office in Philadelphia. I have been making regular professional visit to New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Pittsburgh.

For several years post I have made as many as five hundred examinations weekly with the "Hespirometer." For such ex-amination my charge is three dollars, and it enables me to give each patient the true conditions of his disease, and tel-him frankly whether he will get well.

The great reason why physicians do not care Consumption is, that they try to do too much they give medicines to stop the cough, to stop the night-aweats, heetic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole dipestive system, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient dies.

The Pulmonic Syrup is one of the most valuable medicines known. It is nutrient, powerfully tonic, and healing in itself. It contains no opinm, yet loosens the phlegm in the broughist tabes, so for nature throws it off with little exertion the lottle frequently cures an ordinary cold: but it will be well first to take a dose of Scheneck's Mandrake's Filst to cleame the stounch. The Fulmonic Syrup is readily diges ted and abscribed into blood, to which it imparts its healing properties. It is one of the best preparations of from in use; it is a powerful tonic of itself; and when the Sea weed Tonic dissolves the mucus in the stounch, and is carried off by the aid of the Mandrake Filis, a healthy flow or gustric juice, good appetite, and a good digestion follow.

The Seaweed Tonic is a stimulant, and none other is required when it is used. It is pure and pleasant; no bad effects like when using Bourbon whicky, which disorders the stomach, terpors the liver, locks up all the secretions, turns the blood into water, dropey sets in, and the patient dies

Bourbon whisky is recommended now-a-days by almost every physician. Many patients that visit my rouns, both man and female, are simpefied with this poison. The relief is temporary. If they cough they take a little whisky; it they est weak and feelis they take a little whisky; it they can not sleep, they take a little whisky; and they go on le the way, requiring more and more until they are bloated up, and magine they are getting fisshy. The atomach, liver, any digestive powers are completely destroyed, and lose their appetits for food. No one was were cured of consumption be this process, where exvities have been formed to the lungs. A little stimulant is frequently beneficial to consumptives, such as pure brandy and good wires; is many cases London porter or brown stout in moderate quantities; but Bourbon whisky hastens on instead of curing consumption.

The Seaweed Tonic produces lasting results, thereughly invigorating the stomach and digestive system, and enabling it to climinate and make into healthy blood the food which may be used for that purpose. It is so wooderful in its effects that a wine-glass full will digest a hearty meal, and a little of it taken before breakfast will give a tone to the stomach which few medicines possess the power of doing.

Warner's Pinolea, SHOULD be possessed by every man and woman in the country. Being more relatile, it is far superier to Bennole or Naptha, for .

Removing Grease Spots, and is much more agreeable to use, as it is not only void of that horrible scent, but possesses an agreeable and pleasant odor, supplying the place of cologue or other perfumery. It has a greater affinity for oils than any known substan and hence unites with them immediately, and evaporat leaving the garment entirely free from spot or stain. How many valuable dress coats are thrown saide as useless because of greasy collars or culfs! How many hats, caps, gloves, dresses, carpets and garments of all descriptions are valueless from the same cause, all of which can be saved with one bottle of the Pinoles. The following are some of the many testimonials received from distinguished gentlemen:

MR. WARNER-Dear Sir: I have tried your Pinoles, and find it far superior to anything I ever used for removing greate spots. I think it a very valuable article, and would cheerfully recommend it to my friends and the public. Every person should have a bottle, as it will save $100 worth of clothing.

Prof. AMOS B. LUCE.

Kingaville, June 1854.

Mr. M. R. Warner-Dear Sir: You ask me to give my candid opinion as to the merits of your Pinoles. This I cheericily do. I have used it during the past year, and can honestly say that I would not be without it for ten times its cost. It acts like magic in removing grease that may chance to fall upon upon a garment. A cont whose collar has become so solied as to give a shabby appearance to the whole dress, by the use of the Pinocia, may be entirely cleaned and made to appear like a new cost. There is not that objection to the use of the Pinocia, may be entirely cleaned and made to appear like a new cost. There is not that objection to the use of the Pinoles that obtains against most other detergents. Instead of a nauseous odor, it has the perfurse of bergamot, but by exposure to the son and air, all odor soon vanishes. It administers to ones comfort, saves his money, and makes him respectable.
